

● Iran University of Art is one of the accredited universities in Iran. Some parts of this university were established in 1979. Then in 1991 five different institutes of arts combined together and University of Art was founded, and in 2024 named as Iran University of Art. This is the largest comprehensive universality in Iran which is devoted to the art fields. Iran University of Art is a major center for art education in Iran with an international reputation. This university has been pioneer in teaching so many of art majors in Iran and Middle East. Iran University of Art has seven faculties and one international campus in Tehran and Karaj: Faculty of Applied Arts, Faculty of Visual Arts, Faculty of Theoretical Sciences and Art Studies, Faculty of Conservation and Restoration, Faculty of Cinema & Theater, Faculty of Music, Faculty of Architecture and Urban Planning, and Farabi International Campus. The central building of Iran University of Art is situated within the Bagh Melli Campus. Bagh Melli is a significant monument in Tehran, located in the historical district of the city. Iran University of Art, with the expertise of its professors and students, plays an active role in preserving and restoring this important cultural and historical complex. Through these efforts, the university contributes to maintaining the cultural heritage of Tehran.

FACULTY OF MUSIC

The Faculty of Music is located in Karaj Campus of Iran University of Art. Academic music education in Iran began with the establishment of the "Music Branch" of Dar al-Funun School in 1247 AH. In the process of development, that institution was renamed to "Music School" (1997), "Government Music School" (1998), "Musician School" (1999) and "Higher Music Academy" (1997). After the Islamic Revolution of Iran, the "High Music Academy" and the "National Music Academy" (founded in 1328) were merged and joined the Art Academic Complex.

The music group of the art university complex started its educational activities in the field of military music and Iranian music in 1368, and since 1373, by changing the title of "Expert in Iranian music" to "Iranian Music Performance" and with adding "Classical Music Performance", it became the "Faculty of Music".
